Perseverance Is . . .

We have tried our best to produce a book which accurately represents school life at SHS. There were many rough spots, as it is hard to please everyone, but we hope that the finished product has meaning to all concerned with Southbridge High.

The Southbridge High Pioneers had another good season, climaxing with a District III berth. Highly responsible for the successful team was a solid infield and fine pitching. The outfield had something to be desired in agility, but made up for it in spirit.

Peter Hughes, senior co-captain, had his best year, hitting .490 and playing errorless ball on defense. The hard hitting shortstop made such an impression on the scouts that he was signed to a big league contract just two days after graduation.

A promising bunch of underclassmen give Coach Santelli hopes of another successful year in 1970.

The first Varsity Golf Team, under the supervision of Mr. Don Bernard, came up with a fantastic 10-3 record and third place in the Border Golf Conference. The ten wins were straight with five shutouts, three of them in a row. Of the members, Peter Hapgood, Paul Koprowski, and Bob Caprera qualified for District III Tournament. With these students, future golf seasons should prove quite rewarding.

A Tribute . . . To The Departing Seniors.

Although the Junior Prom did not meet the expectations of many, it did turn out to be an outstanding event. The theme, "Passport to Polynesia", was chosen over many suggestions, and it was generally conceded to have been the most unique prom in the history of Southbridge High.

Recognition and gratitude should be given, however, to those members of the decorating committee whose frantic, last-minute efforts and adjustments contributed to make the whole event a pleasant one.

Teresa Digregorio reigned as Queen of the Prom, and following a Polynesian theme, her escort Peter Hughes was crowned King.

The SQUIRES

"When Darkness Fell Excitement Kissed The Crowd . . ."

Although the annual "Turkey Day" game was lost, spirits were not dampened and the Victory Dance was well-attended. The New Breed provided the music.

Freshmen Receive A Hearty Introduction

The first duty of the class of '70 as seniors was to sponsor the traditional Freshman Reception. The Mulberry Bush provided the music as the smallest class of S.H.S. welcomed the largest. The purpose of the reception was to acquaint the newest members of the school with the faculty. The reception line was filled with seniors trying to read name tags; smiling (if not somewhat embarrassed) freshmen, and tired, sweaty-handed teachers. The dance was well attended.

To The Life Style At Southbridge High

"Though It Never Made The New York Times . . ."

On the nights of May 16 and 17, 1969, Mr. McManis and his sixteen member cast succeeded in reviving American melodrama. They brought to the Southbridge High stage an excellent performance of Under the Gaslight. Christopher Clarke and Michelle Jewell were convincing in their lead roles as a Civil War veteran and the Belle of Society. They, plus the other players, were proof that amateurs can give a professional performance.

Students Display Hidden Abilities

In Mathematics And Science

Contrary to previous years, the Math and Science Departments joined forces to draw a crowd of over five-hundred to view the various projects submitted by students.

The two top over-all winners of the Fair were sophomore Marc Charette in the Science Division, and Senior Wayne MacDonald in the Math. However, many of the other entries were acknowledged and rewarded for their efforts.

Music

On March 21, 1969, students from all grades participated in Southbridge High's annual Talent Show. Again the students showed their interest by the near capacity crowd.

Among the acts were solos by Marc Lefebvre, Deborah Lacasse, Janice Zachara, and Deborah Konkel.

In addition to solos were dance acts and the performance of a five member rock band called the "Matchbox."

Under the supervision of the faculty committee, this year's talent show proved to be another success.

Proceeds were used for the Dr. James M. Robertson Memorial Scholarship which was awarded to a senior.

Teachers Present Fashion Preview

Of The Seventies

To provide scholarship money this year, the Southbridge Education Association spotlighted fifteen high school students and teachers in the Teacher's Fashion Show. Using a ski lodge as background, the students and the teachers modeled clothes provided by area merchants. Models from the high school were David Benjamin, Kim Carpentier, Sue Delage, Laura Newell, Michael Hughes, Dolores Corriveau and Richard Roy.

Humor And Talent —

The Harlem Diplomats

The Harlem Diplomats, an all-Negro basketball team, were brought to Southbridge High through the efforts of the Faculty Scholarship Fund. The team models itself after the world-famous Harlem Globetrotters but still projects a unique style never before known to the SHS gym.

Some pre-game glimpses were caught during lunch periods when the Diplomats, with the aid of Mike Costa, demonstrated their dribbling and passing techniques. The preview obviously paid off — the Diplomats played against the faculty to a near capacity crowd. Using their Black Magic, they handily defeated the teachers.

At 7:00 A.M. on November 21, a group of students from SHS could be seen boarding a bus bound for New York City. The trip was organized, under the guidance of the Social Studies Department, to enable interested students to visit the United Nations and the Museum of Natural History.

Upon arrival at the U.N. the students were briefed by the delegate from the Soviet Union, after which they departed for a tour of the Museum. The next stop was at "Mama Leone's Ristorante," where the group enjoyed some genuine Italian Cuisine. After this feast, the students clambered on their bus for the all too soon return trip to Southbridge.
